About me

I have spent 5 years working with SEO, focusing on driving organic growth through on-page and technical fundamentals, digital PR, and link building.

My experience comes from agency environment, where I managed clients across 7 different geo-locations to build their organic presence and performance reporting. More recently, at SkyCity (in-house), I helped drive a 184% growth in non-branded organic traffic within my first 10 months.

My focus of late is AI search. The search landscape is shifting, and while I believe traditional SEO remains the foundation, AI cannot be ignored. This requires keeping an eye on new metrics and exploring the tools and approaches that will define the next generation of search.
